Introduction

The LOINC vocabulary standard, developed by the Regenstrief Institute, Inc. is a coding system for laboratory tests and other clinical measures used in electronic transactions between independent computer systems. The development of LOINC was initiated and continues to be directed by the Regenstrief Institute. Regenstrief maintains the LOINC database and supporting documentation, processes submissions and edits to the content, develops and curates accessory content (descriptions, hierarchies, other attributes, etc.), develops the RELMA mapping program, and coordinates LOINC releases.

In addition, Regenstrief continues to cultivate the LOINC community worldwide. To help guide the overall LOINC development, Regenstrief organized and leads the LOINC Committee of volunteers from academia, industry, and government that serve as an advisory group in defining the overall naming conventions and policies for the development process.

Over the 20+ year history, LOINC development has been supported by many organizations, including the John A Hartford Foundation, the Agency for Health Care Policy and Research (AHRQ), the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), the Indiana Clinical and Translational Sciences Institute, the California Healthcare Foundation, the Radiological Society of North America, AHIMA Foundation, RTI International, the Regenstrief Foundation, the Regenstrief Institute, and the U.S. National Library of Medicine.

Mission

The purpose of the LOINC Committee is to serve as an advisory body to the Regenstrief Institute in its development and distribution of LOINC by establishing overall naming conventions and policies for the development process. Members of the LOINC Committee also serve as subject matter experts in their domains of expertise.

Appointment of the Chair and Co-chair roles of the overall LOINC Committee are made by the designated authority (e.g. Director of LOINC and Health Data Standards) at the Regenstrief Institute.
The Secretariat will announce a call for nominations for the Offices to the Committee membership. Nominees shall be drawn from active Committee members at the time of the announcement. If appropriate candidates are not available within the active membership, the pool of candidate nominees may be expanded.

Officer Terms

The Chair and Co-Chair serve renewable three-year terms that end in different years. Active officers must be Members of the LOINC Committee (per the requirements described below).

Membership

Members of the LOINC Committee must be approved by the Secretariat of the LOINC Committee. The Secretariat will not unreasonably prevent new members who meet the following conditions:

1. Have a direct and material interest in LOINC (i.e. they are users of LOINC)
2. Willingness to participate actively
3. Demonstrated commitment to LOINC as indicated by prior attendance (in-person or virtual) of at least 3 prior meetings, and either making substantive contributions to the discussion OR submitting more than one term requests in the past three years

5. Have signed the then-current LOINC Committee Letter of Agreement

Membership Categories

Individual

A person meeting the qualifications can apply for membership regardless of whether they work for or own a company with employees. Individual members cannot delegate their privileges or voting rights or name proxies.

Organizations wishing to join the LOINC Committee must meet the general qualifications for membership. The attendance prerequisite need not be fulfilled by the same individual.
Member Organizations must indicate primary and up to 2 proxy representatives for each composite LOINC committee that they wish to participate in. At its discretion, the organization may appoint different representatives for each composite LOINC committee.

In addition to the general qualifications for membership, organizations must indicate whether they have a Parent/Subsidiary with any current member organizations. Where two or more Member Organizations have Parent/Subsidiary relationships with one another, they will be allowed only one voting representative collectively for each composite Committee on which one or more of the Member Organizations is represented.

If a primary or proxy representative for a Member Organization changes employers, the Member Organization must designate new primary (and, optionally, proxy) representatives to take their place.

Each designated primary or proxy representative must sign the then-current LOINC Committee Letter of Agreement before participating on the LOINC Committee.

Standards Development Organization
